About NCU

Northern Caribbean University (NCU) is one of the leading tertiary educational institutions in Jamaica. It was founded in 1907 and is owned and operated by the Jamaica Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists and the Atlantic Caribbean Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. The university has institutional accreditation from the University Council of Jamaica (UCJ), an ISO 900 certified organisation, and the Adventist Accrediting Association (AAA).

The university has four campuses in Jamaica, namely Mandeville Campus - its headquarters, East Jamaica Regional Campus - located in Kingston, West Jamaica Regional Campus - located in Montego Bay, and North Jamaica Regional Campus - located in St. Ann's Bay.

NCU gives a unique spiritual and multi-cultural experience, with a student population comprising of both Jamaican and international students. As a student you can study while gaining work experience through the work-and-study programme.

NCU delivers its curriculum through a system that incorporates semesters, summer and modular sessions. A semester is approximately 16 weeks (4 months) while summer session is about 4-6 weeks (1 ½ months). Modular classes take place during the day or evening with daily classes for approximately seven (7) weeks and cater mostly to working persons.

There is also a credit system. A "credit" is one hour of instruction per week. Most classes occur as 3-credit courses, that is, a total of three hours are spent in class weekly.

This institution offers full-time (day-school) degree and part-time (modular/evening) degree programmes as well as non-degree offerings. Degree programmes include undergraduate programmes (Associate and Bachelor degrees) and graduate programmes (Post-graduate diplomas and certificates, Master and Doctoral degrees). Non-degree offerings include short courses.

There are thousands of NCU alumni around the world who are making their mark! They can be found globally in various industries such as health, medicine, commerce, religion, civic service, politics, music and media. Alumni also give back to NCU through gestures like student scholarships and grants.

FAQ

What is NCU's Dress Code?

All persons entering NCU campuses are asked to dress modestly at all times in keeping with our ethos, which means that no jewelry or inappropriate clothing is allowed at any point in time. Make-up should be moderate as well as hair colours and nail polish should be as close to the skin tone as possible.

The Art of what is possible

A young woman with dark hair and glasses, wearing a light blue lab coat and white gloves, is using a pipette to transfer liquid into a multi-well plate. She is smiling slightly at the camera. In the background, a microscope is visible on a lab bench. The text "You can" is overlaid in blue on the right side of the image.

"It is not earthly rank, nor birth, nor nationality, nor religious privilege, which proves that we are members of the family of God; it is LOVE, a love that embraces all humanity."

Ellen G. White

FAQ

Are all students required to do religious courses?

Yes! As a Seventh-day Adventist, Christ-centred institution, we believe in the wholistic development of our students and as such we seek to develop our students not just academically, but spiritually as well.

The International Experience at NCU

NCU boasts a diverse population, which has always been the case since 1907. Our international students are found mostly on our Mandeville Campus. They represent collectively, over 20 countries in a typical semester. Each semester these students share their cultures with the NCU community through the International Diversity Week celebrations. All international students automatically become members of the vibrant International Students' Association.

The department of International Student Services (ISS) exposes our international students to the best of Jamaican art, culture and entertainment. As an international student, you will feel right at home with us!
